

Shopping List

Small dibbler
Spray bottle
A pack or small pot filled with potting soil

Water the tray of seedlings thoroughly to loosen the soil. Using a small dibbler, extract the seedling from the tray.

The seedling should have a small amount of soil still attached to the root.

Make an appropriately sized hole in the pack you're transplanting to, and insert the seedling. Firm the soil around the seedling, and water with a spray bottle.